

SOCIETY

"Little Lord Fauntleroy."

No pains are being spared to make the production of "Little Lord Fauntleroy" realistic and true to the story. The grey pony that little Coddie learns to ride so well is to appear on the stage. Dugal, the big mastiff, will also appear and the management has every expectation that he will greet the public with his sonorous voice. The rehearsals are in full swing and every scene is being worked out with thoroughness.

My lord, the Earl of Dorincourt, has found a faithful representation in Mr. David Anderson, who in the twinkling of an eye is changed from his sociable self to a bad-tempered, gouty old tyrant. Mrs. Fred Waterhouse splendidly sustains the charming and pathetic character of Mrs. Errol, the mother of the little hero. Mrs. C. S. Weight takes the part of Mary, the Irish maid, with her captivating brogue. Mr. William Douthitt makes an excellent Havisham, the Dorincourt lawyer. Mr. E. A. Douthitt plays the commercial yet kindly Hobbs, Fauntleroy's grocer friend. Miss Gross, Howard is transformed into a little New York hoodlum. Mr. Clifton Tracy is the conventional English outler. Thomas Mr. Edward Kito is to become a veritable yokel in the part of Higgins. Miss Helen Alexander will take the difficult part of Minna, with an ease and expression that would easily pass for professional. Lastly, Hazel Kellogg, the star performer of the star part, is changed from her quiet, thoughtful self into the sunny-hearted little boy whose only reason for existence is to be happy and to make everyone else happy, too. Little Lord Fauntleroy is assuredly one of the sweetest and most winsome characters either in the book world or on the stage.

The fact that this is a play also will provide a change in the entertainment schedule, where music has predominated up to the present. An important alteration has been made with regard to the performances. October 2, Friday, at 8 o'clock, will be the children's matinee, while the evening performance will be given on Saturday, October 3, at 8:15 o'clock. Tickets are on sale at the Promotion rooms.

The patronesses are: Mrs. A. L. Andrews, Mrs. A. F. Cooke, Mrs. Arthur Jones, Mrs. A. Lewis, Mrs. T. H. Petrie, Mrs. Montague Cooke, Mrs. J. W. Wadman, Mrs. Alexander Lindsay, Mrs. H. McK. Harrison, Mrs. Erdman, Mrs. Wm. A. Love, Mrs. Albert F. Judd, Mrs. Andrew Fuller, Mrs. E. B. Waterhouse, Mrs. U. Thompson, Mrs. B. L. Marx, Mrs. W. A. Bowen, Mrs. George Castle, Mrs. L. T. Peck, Mrs. E. A. Mott-Smith.

On Tantalus.

Mrs. George Herbert and her sister, Mrs. Helen Noonan, are spending a delightful month at the Rodick home on Tantalus. Mrs. Herbert and Mrs. Noonan are resting before returning to town to take up the duties of the gay social season of the winter.

For His Second Birthday.

Mrs. George C. Beckley was hostess at an enjoyable children's party yesterday afternoon, celebrating the second birthday of her little son, George. Though the rain prevented outdoor games, the nursery in the beautiful Beckley mansion at Walkiki was fitted up with swings, a hobby horse and a dozen other things to delight children. Many of the youngsters were accompanied by their mothers, who, like the little ones, enjoyed a delightful afternoon as Mrs. Beckley's guests. Among those present were: Mrs. W. C. Campbell with Muriel and George, Mrs. Walter Macfarlane with Alice, Sallie, Walter and Kala, Mrs. William Lucas with Melvia, Bob, Alicia and Frederick Shingle, Mrs. A. N. Campbell and her two children, Newton and Valkyrie, Mrs. Frederick Steere and her two children, Mrs. St. C. Sayres with Bailey, Margaret, Coyne and baby, Mrs. Edwin H. Paris and her four children, Mrs. Archibald Campbell with her children, Mrs. W. A. Purdy and the twins, Mrs. Chillingworth with her two children, Mrs. A. Gartenberg with two children, August Drier, Jr., Mrs. Fritz Henshaw and baby, Mrs. Jean Campbell with Elena, her little boy, Mrs. E. Webb and her baby, Mrs. Jean Campbell with Elena Louise, Mrs. Bella Bisho with five children and Mrs. Murray with her little child.

Besides there children were 19 little folks, children of the employees of the Beckleys.

Other guests who were invited to spend the afternoon with the hostess were Mrs. Mary Beckley, Miss Juanita Beckley, Mrs. E. K. Freeth, Mrs. Straub, Mrs. Lusia Lucas, Mrs. Frank K. Woods and Mrs. Carl Widemann.

Wedding of Local Interest.

A wedding of considerable interest locally was solemnized in Oakland within the past few weeks when Miss Genevieve Neustadt became the wife of E. T. Rabjohn, traffic manager for the Spreckels sugar interests in San Francisco.

Mrs. Rabjohn is well known in Honolulu, especially in musical circles, having visited here on several occasions and participated in a number of recitals during each visit. She is an accomplished pianist and her husband is the possessor of a splendid tenor voice.

Several Honolulu people were present at the wedding, including: Mr. and Mrs. G. K. Tackaberry, Mrs. John F. Bowler and Mrs. Peter Daniels.

The young couple, following a honeymoon trip in the east, will make their home in Oakland, California.

Mrs. Rabjohn has visited in Honolulu frequently as the companion of her father, J. H. Neustadt, who has considerable business interests in the islands.

Mrs. Howard Hitchcock's Tea.

Honoring Mrs. Francis M. Day, Mrs. D. Mead and Mrs. W. G. Singlehurst, an informal tea on Thursday afternoon at her home in Nuuanu Valley. The guests were old friends of Mrs. Day who knew the charming woman when she lived in Honolulu years ago. The affair was planned for out of doors but the inclement weather did not permit the plans of the hostess to be carried out. Those who assisted Mrs. Hitchcock were Mrs. Fred Waterhouse, Mrs. W. L. Moore, Mrs. Royal D. Meade and Mrs. W. G. Singlehurst. About fifty ladies called during the afternoon.

Dr. and Mrs. Davis Entertain.

A prettily appointed dinner of this week was that at which Dr. and Mrs. Davis entertained on Thursday evening. Delicately shaded flowers, gracefully arranged, formed an attractive centerpiece. Covers were laid for Dr. and Mrs. Owen, Dr. and Mrs. Hodgins, Dr. and Mrs. Reynolds, Dr. and Mrs. Nesbit, Dr. and Mrs. Robertson and the host and hostess.

A Honolulu Woman at the Front.

The news that came to Honolulu a few days ago saying that the beautiful Mrs. T. Olive Davies had successfully passed the examinations and joined the Red Cross forces created quite a lot of excitement. At the outbreak of the war Mr. and Mrs. Davies sailed for New York, en route to England, where they were to meet their children. Evidently the young people were already on their way to America, for it has been stated that Mrs. Davies will leave her children in New York.

As a member of one of the most exclusive sets in Honolulu Mrs. Davies was extensively entertained and during each year has been hostess at numerous affairs both at her beach home and at the Davies residence on Thurston avenue.

Prior to their departure for the east, Mr. Davies was acting British consul until the arrival of Consul Gordon.

Informal Dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Alvin Coons were guests of honor at a prettily appointed dinner on Tuesday evening at which Mr. Frederick Wichman was host. Fragrant white plumarias and quantities of lacy maidenhair ferns ornamented the center of the table. Covers were laid for six.

The Dollar Chain.

Residents in Kaimuki have chosen a novel manner in which to raise funds for an Episcopal chapel in the pretty little suburb and under the chairmanship of Mrs. Will C. King a committee of ladies is busy enlarging the fund. A subscription of a dollar is made in the name of a friend and each lady making a donation passes the list to a friend who does likewise. It is hoped that early in October sufficient money will have been raised to begin work on the chapel. Those who are working with Mrs. King are Mrs. C. Montague Cooke, Mrs. McK. Harrison, Mrs. J. O. Young, and Mrs. George King, and Rev. F. A. Saylor is giving his best support.

The Manoa Card Club.

Mrs. Giles H. Gere, a Manoa resident who is spending several months at Waikiki, was hostess for the Manoa Bridge Club at the Gilman cottage on Thursday afternoon. About 20 ladies were present.

To Visit Honolulu.

The many friends of Mrs. Leonora P. Wood who met that charming woman during her visit in Honolulu last year, will be delighted to know that she will again make a trip to the islands to visit her son, Warren Wood, who is one of the government inspectors at Pearl Harbor.

Mrs. Wood is one of the most prominent women of Los Angeles and is as well known in society as in the women's clubs. She is one of the most active suffragists in California and was a prominent campaigner for the Progressive party at the recent primaries. Mrs. Wood has not decided as yet whether she will come to the islands before the regular elections in November.

Lloyd-Edwards Nuptials.

The following announcement has been received:

Mr. and Mrs. James Edwards announce the marriage of their daughter, Ethel Edith to Mr. Alvin Thomas Lloyd on Wednesday, the sixteenth of September, nineteen hundred and fourteen.

San Francisco. The bride was formerly a resident of Honolulu and has many friends here and on the other islands.

(Additional society on page fourteen).

Miladi and her friends are invited to our opening display on and from Thursday, October the First, of the....

NEW FALL MODES AND ACCESSORIES

chosen with much care from the exhibits of the leading makers of two continents.

Especially view the evening gowns and afternoon frocks—of which there are no duplicates.

NEW SILKS LACES TRIMMINGS AND NOVELTIES

WHITNEY & MARSH
Fort Street